

Abstract

The present invention describes a method of increasing the high-density lipoprotein level in plasma by administering to a postmenopausal woman a pharmaceutical formulation comprised of calcium citrate. The invention also provides for a pharmaceutical composition and a dietary supplement thereof.

10016371-121001